Postponement because of Covid

The Wonderful World of the Internet

A presentation by Brendan Girvan

Brendan is known to many because his expert knowledge has helped us regain access to the World of the Internet after we have been shut out for reasons we could not fathom and/or could not deal with ourselves.

This presentation of the fascinating trends, developments and future of the Internet has been postponed until the present Covid pandemic, with its known risk of severer symptoms for our age group, is deemed to be better under control.

We look forward to announcing a new date in the future.
